In my mind I'm goin' to Carolina

Can't ya see the sunshine

Can't ya just feel the moonshine

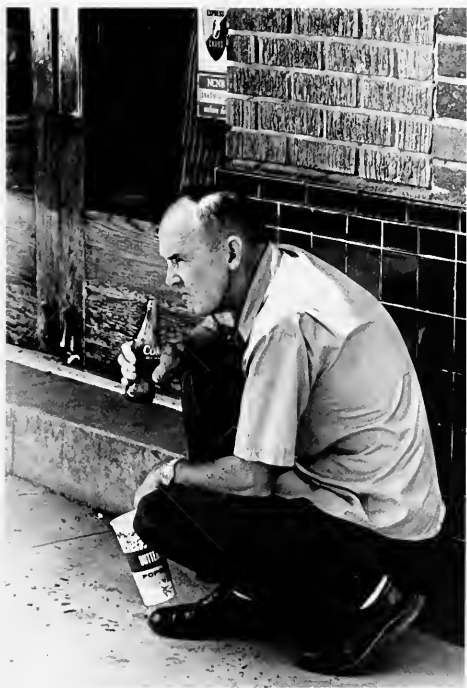

Ain't it just like a friend of mine

My mind just goes along for the ride
when I run.

"The time has come . . ."

Tom Bello

It was necessary to speak to every one. If one spoke to every one, one was "democratic"; if one did not, one was a snob, and got few votes. The appraisal of personality, like all other appraisal with them, was coarse and blunt. They were suspicious of all eminence. They had a hard peasant hostility to the unusual. A man was brilliant? Was there a bright sparkle to him? Bad, bad! He was not safe; he was not sound. The place was a democratic microcosmos — seething with political interests: national, regional, collegiate.

The campus had its candidates, its managers, its bosses, its machines, as had the State. A youngster developed in college the political craft he was later to exert in Party affairs. The son of a politician was schooled by his crafty sire before the down was off his cheeks: at sixteen, his life had been plotted ahead to the governorship, or to the proud dignities of a Congressman. The boy came deliberately to the university to bait and set his first traps: deliberately he made those friendships that were most likely to benefit him later. By his junior year, if he was successful, he had a political manager, who engineered his campus ambitions; he moved with circumspection, and spoke with a trace of pomp nicely weighted with cordiality.

"Ah, there, gentleman." "Gentlemen, how are you?" "A nice day, gentlemen."

The vast campaign of the world stretched out its limitless wonder, but few were seduced away from the fortress of the State, few ever heard the distant reverberation of an idea. They could get no greater glory for themselves than a seat in the Senate, and the way to glory — the way to all power, highness, and distinction whatsoever — was through the law, a string tie, and a hat. Hence politics, law schools, debating societies, and speechmaking. The applause of listening senates to command.

The yokels, of course, were in the saddle — they composed nine-tenths of the student body: the proud titles were in their gift, and they took good care that their world should be kept safe for yokelery and the home-spun virtues. Usually, these dignities — the presidencies of student bodies, classes, Y.M.C.A.'s, and the managerships of athletic teams — were given to some honest serf who had established his greatness behind a plough before working in the college commons, or to some industrious hack who had shown a satisfactory mediocrity in all directions. Such an industrious hack was called an "all-round man." He was safe, sound, and reliable. He would never get notions. He was the fine flower of university training. He was a football scrub, and a respectable scholar in all subjects. He was a universal Two Man. He always got Two on everything, except Moral Character, where he shone with a superlative Oneness. If he did not go into the law or the ministry, he was appointed a Rhodes Scholar.

The Jesse J. Moorhead Squadron of Arnold Air Society is a professional honorary service fraternity of outstanding Air Force ROTC Cadets. It is founded on the objectives to aid in the development of Air Force Officers, to create a closer and more efficient relationship within the Air Force Officers Training Corps, to support Aerospace Power in its role in national security, to advance air and space age citizenship, and to further the purpose, traditions, and concepts of the United States Air Force.

The Jesse J. Moorhead Angel Flight, sponsored by the Arnold Air Society, is a group of University coeds who serve as hostesses for Air Force ROTC cadets. A national organization with over one hundred and twenty flights in the United States, the Angels assist the Arnold Air Society in its projects, promote interest in Air Force ROTC, and help increase the morale of cadets.

The Yackety Yack is proud to present the recipients of the 1971 Frank Porter Graham Awards. The awards are selected by a committee of juniors under the sponsorship of the Yackety Yack.

Determinations are made on the basis of the student's demonstration of a serious interest in the academic life of the University; a concern for the quality of life at the University, and a desire to work for the realization of his goals and ideals through service and participation; and in his personal character, the reflection of those qualities which were exemplified by Dr. Graham.

The awards are given to honor Dr. Frank Porter Graham, past President of the University, United States Senator and special United Nations mediator. It is Dr. Graham's dedication to the principles of equality, dignity and peace among men, his devotion to the improvement of the quality of life, and his unselfish service in the pursuit of these ideals that guided the committee in selecting these students to receive the awards.

Virginia Carson has demonstrated her concern for the quality of life both within the University community and beyond. In her concern for the academic life of the University she has participated in the Experimental College, done advisory work with the Merzbacher Committee on Academic Reform and served on the Curriculum Committee of the Political Science Department. As a member of the Women's Residence Council and WRC committee on self-limiting hours she has worked to improve women's rules and aid women's rights. She has also served as an NSA co-ordinator and delegate.

It is perhaps through her work with the YM-YWCA that Virginia has most exemplified those qualities which honor the ideas of Dr. Graham. She has served as organizer of the Racial Dialogue Symposium, Trustee Dinners, Chairman of the Campus Issues Committee and was active in the support groups of the University workers' strike. She has worked with the Moratorium, served as southern organizer for both Project Pursestrings (lobby for the McGovern-Hatfield Amendment to End the War) and Movement for a New Congress, and has participated in Washington Witness. She has additionally worked with the Department of Housing and Urban Development during the summer.

A political science major from Raleigh, she was a member of the Freshman and Sophomore Honors Program and has been honored for her scholastic achievements with membership in Gamma Alpha Lambda and Phi Beta Kappa. For her outstanding service she has been selected for membership in the Valkyries, the highest women's honorary. Following graduation, Virginia plans to attend law school at Columbia University.

Richie Leonard has served the University in a variety of activities. As a member of the Union Activities Group he has served as Chairman of the Current Affairs Committee and as President of the Union. He has participated in Student Government as a Legislator, as Speaker of the Student Legislature and as Men's Co-ordinator of Orientation. As Chairman of the National Merit Scholarship Committee and a student member on the Faculty Committee on Scholarships, Richie has demonstrated his interest in the academic opportunities at the University. He has also participated in Project Hinton, the YMCA and was a NSA delegate.

Richie has been honored scholastically with membership in Phi Eta Sigma, a freshman honorary, and Phi Beta Kappa, both of which he served as Secretary. He has been honored with membership in the Order of the Grail and the Order of the Golden Fleece and is a member of the North Carolina Fellows Program. In addition, he is the recipient of the John Johnson Parker Jr., Medal for leadership in Student Government and a Howard W. Odum Undergraduate Sociology Award.

Along with his service to the University community, Richie has worked during the summer with Project Head Start on campus and with black high school students at the University of Pennsylvania as an intern in the Richardson Fellows Program.

A sociology major from Lexington, Richie plans to teach next year.

As a member of Student Legislature for three years, Gerry Cohen served as chairman of the Student Senate. He worked dedicatedly for the students' interests and for students' rights. He was a past president in his service on the Student Senate's Advisory Committee and as a member of the Student Stores. As co-ordinator of the Student Senate, he has sought to foster a sense of responsibility in the public sector.

Gerry has demonstrated his belief in the social responsibility of students as a member of the Young Democrats and as a member of the Southern Student Organizing Committee. During the summer and fall of 1970 he worked as a press aide in the US Senatorial campaign of Joseph Duffey.

Gerry has demonstrated his interest in the quality of life at the University with his participation in Project Hinton, Hillel, and his service as a member of the Committee for the Advancement of Minority and Disadvantaged Students and as Student Party Treasurer. He has brought his views before the students as a writer and columnist for the Daily Tar Heel.

A political science major from West Hartford, Connecticut, Gerry is a Dean's List student and a three-year graduate. He plans to attend graduate school in political science at UNC.

For her outstanding contributions to sorority life at Carolina, Margot Fletcher has been honored with membership in the Society of Hellenas. She has served as Vice-President of Phi Mu Sorority, Rush Counselor, a member of the Chancellor's Advisory Committee on Fraternities and Sororities and as Recording Secretary and President of the Panhellenic Council. The recipient of a Journalism Foundation Scholarship, a Dean's List student and a member of the Freshman and Sophomore Honors Program, Margot has distinguished herself academically. A native of Roanoke, Virginia, she is a double major in journalism and political science.

Margot has been active in other aspects of University life. She has served on her dorm House Council and Visitation Committee. She has participated in Student Government as an Orientation Counselor, Chairman of the Campus Elections Board and a member of the State Affairs Committee. She has worked diligently in the area on election reforms. She has also served on the Campus Chest Advisory Board. For her service she has been honored with membership in the Valkyries, the highest women's honorary. She plans to continue her work in the area of political science.
